Pomona Youth Gets Away With Coin.

Not Standard, Book-keeper of American National, Is Short in Accounts.

Defalcation Will Amount to Between Fifty and Sixty Thousand Dollars.

Banker Speculated in Oil Lands; Gave Employees Gold Watches.

CROOKED.
On Thursday morning when Standard failed to appear at the bank, President Graham Finstution, who had become alarmed at Standard's actions, sought him at his house and found the doors locked. The police department was quietly notified and started working on the case.
At the request of the bank officials, National Bank Examiner Gatch was summoned from Los Angeles and upon the examination of the bank's assets everything was satisfactory to the department. The bank directors, Messrs. Graham, David, Brady, Lobingier, Mel Campbell, H. J. Nichols and L. C. Meredith, leading and highly respected men of this community, have pledged their personal fortunes to insure the bank's capital against any impairment and the depositors and patrons are assured ample protection whatever the amount of the defalcation.
Constable Skinner is working on the local end of the case with Los Angeles officers, and a Burns man came out here tonight. It has been learned that Standard has been buying land and speculating in oil in the Kern district, and this afternoon the bank has been put in touch with data from which it may be reimbursed for a large part of the shortage. The officers, however, did not give out the details of this information.
LAVISH WITH GIFTS.
Standard, who was about 25 years old, went out little in society here and was unostentatious in dress and manner. He was married about a year ago to Miss Jessie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith, old-time residents. He bought a little bungalow here and furnished it lavishly. He made expensive presents from time to time to relatives, and it was learned today that he purchased twelve seventeen-jewel gold watches at Christmas and presented them to workers on his Kern county property.
Standard had comparatively few intimate friends here and was not socially inclined. Since the investigation into his affairs was started it is learned that he carried on much correspondence and telegraphing in connection with his land business, but it was all carried on in a quiet way and not to the noticeable neglect of his duties.

night, however, he went home and with his wife left the house and was driven in an automobile to Los Angeles, where the couple registered at the Rosslyn Hotel.

Senator's Campaign Manager Practically Admits Defeat.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.
WASHINGTON (D. C.) Feb. 5.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) It is apparent from developments today that the organizers of the La Follette Presidential movement are about to throw up the sponge. Senator La Follette's nervous breakdown, which may be more serious than his close friends have been willing to admit, is partly responsible. It certainly has served as an excuse for some persons identified with the movement to throw their energies into quarters that show the likelihood of more practical returns.
Two weeks ago there were intimations of desertions from the ranks of the La Follette boomers. When a roundup was held here several days ago, participated in by Clifford Pinchot and his brother Amos, Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts, Charles F. Crane, Prof. C. E. Merriam and Walter Rogers of Chicago, together with several members of Congress, who have been staunch defenders of the Wisconsin Senator in his Presidential aspirations, it was rumored that efforts were making in the La Follette camp to turn the movement over to Roosevelt. The reports were emphatically denied. Now, however, there is tangible evidence of the drift away from La Follette.
GIVE UP THE FIGHT.
The managers of the "Republican Progressive Campaign Committee," which is another name for the La Follette Presidential organization, have done their best to maintain his fight in the face of the situation that has developed within the last few weeks. Even since the Senator was stricken with an illness that compelled the cancellation of his speaking engagements, two or three days ago, statements have been issued declaratory of a determination to keep his campaign going and to continue a vigorous fight for delegates in every State where the movement has secured a foundation.
Tonight, however, W. L. Houser, chairman of the La Follette Campaign Committee, issued a statement which, to those who read between the lines, will indicate a conviction on the part of the Wisconsin Senator's managers that his personal cause practically has run its course.
These in close touch with recent developments expect announcements quickly to follow from Clifford Pinchot and others who have been identified with the La Follette campaign of the transfer of their active support to the Roosevelt forces. So far as physical conditions are concerned, there is not as yet any evidence of a slackening of the La Follette movement. The extensive quarters here are occupied by a force of clerks.

SECRETS ARE REVEALED.

Writer's Romance Bared in Court.

Letter of Myrtle Reed Mc- Cullough to Dr. Sugg Is Full of Distress.

Denounces Husband, Lauds Physician Who Now Sues for a Big Fee.

Outpouring of Broken Heart Discloses Previous At- tempt at Suicide.

LET DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Secrets of Myrtle Reed McCullough's life romance, which ended in suicide, were revealed this afternoon. Her farewell letter to Dr. Edward Sugg, named by James Sydney McCullough as "the other man," was read in Probate Court in an action involving the will of the dead author.
Dr. Sugg's effort to collect on a claim of $1000 for professional services to Mrs. McCullough failed when Judge Cutting dismissed the action without prejudice. D. W. Parker, attorney for Sugg, announced he would at once file a new claim with new allegations.
The citation ordering Dr. Sugg to produce some ninety letters from the dead woman, which her husband charges the doctor holds, was canceled.
The case, so far as it relates to the present action in Probate Court, is at an end.
TRIED ONCE BEFORE.
The farewell letter was filled with the outpourings of the distressed woman's heart. She was bitter in denunciation of her husband, eloquent in the praises of Dr. Sugg, who she addressed as "my dear."
A former attempt at suicide in which Mrs. McCullough was saved is revealed in the letter. "She expressed regret at having lived," it through. "James Sydney McCullough, my husband, galled his first knowledge of the letter in court. He made strenuous efforts in person and through his attorney to prevent the letter being made public."
The letter, which was written at "Paradise Flat," the McCullough home at No. 5130 Kenmore avenue, was handed to Dr. Sugg by a maid in the McCullough home at the same time the servant delivered to the physician two checks, aggregating $1000, and a bank book.
These checks were returned unpaid by the bank which refused payment because of their presentation following the death of Mrs. McCullough. The checks and the sum for which they stood became the basis of the claim against the estate heard today in the Probate Court.
PATHEtic LETTER.
In part Mrs. McCullough's letter follows:
"Tedd Dear—I have at last opened the little door for myself, and gone to never, never land. I have broken the promise I made you over a year ago, and I have set myself free. Forgive me, please. It may not be the brave way, but it is my way, and I have to go."
"I am sorry you saved me last summer when I tried to go. I shall make it sure this time. It has been a year of torture and torment, with my husband drunk most of the time. I have done everything and borne everything, and tried to be brave, but I have come to the end."
"Last night was the twelfth anniversary of our meeting. He was to come home early and bring me flowers. Instead of that he came home after 1 o'clock, so drunk that he could not stand up. This morning he went out of town without even saying good-bye."
"Attorney Parker announced that he would make an effort to develop a phase of the case yet held secret through the testimony of Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, mother of the dead woman, when the case should again be in court on a new claim."
Mrs. Reed and her husband, who make their Chicago home at "Paradise Flat," were said today to be in the Southwest, at a health resort, where they intended to remain for the winter.
Attorney Parker declared that there were facts in the case which made Mrs. Reed reluctant to appear in court.

Commercial Men of Portland Refute the Slander That Crime and Destitution Obscure Oregon.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That crime is rampant and destitution common in Oregon are assertions made in a formal statement sent out by the Central Union Labor Council of Portland.

Commercial organizations have been action vigorously to deny the slander, and hundreds of citizens today denounced the slanders for their action. A meeting of the board of governors of the Commercial Club was held tonight at which the action was hotly challenged.

The union circular says the statement is issued as a warning to working men not to come to this State. "The bottom of Oregon's wildcat schemes is dropping out," it is declared, "because destitution and a general reign of crime committed by misled and desperate men."

This statement has been sent to the Governor of every State in the Union. It has also been sent to the leading newspapers throughout the country, with a request that it be given publicity. The statement is signed by Will Daly, president, and Arthur W. Lawrence, secretary, of the Central Union Labor Council.

Helena Hotel Where Politicians Lost on Purpose to Influence Legislature Destroyed by Fire.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) HELENA (Mont.) Feb. 5.—An inventory taken today among the ruins of the Helena hotel, destroyed by fire yesterday, brought the total loss to $140,000.

The destruction of the hotel marked the passing of one of the landmarks of Montana political history, and politicians from all over the State gathered at the ruins today to discuss the momentous events directed from within. The hotel was built after statehood was granted to Montana and became the headquarters of every political faction. It was at the Helena hotel that the deal was planned and carried out by one campaigner after another.

At the legislative sessions during the Clark-Daly campaigns each faction had headquarters in the hotel and it was within that the legislators sat down to poker games in which it is alleged thousands of dollars intentionally were lost to influence legislation.

TO PARDON EX-CASHIER.

Pleads Guilty in a Case Where Court Rules No Crime Was Done. A Unique Situation.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An effort is afoot to obtain a pardon for W. Cooper Morris, former cashier of the wrecked Oregon Trust and Savings Bank, who is serving a sentence in the penitentiary and who was a state witness in the trial of Louis J. Wilde which ended Saturday in a fiasco.

Morris's position is unique in view of the fact that he has pleaded guilty of embezzlement while Judge Kavanaugh has decided that no such crime took place and an effort is to be made by Attorney Alex Sweek to get the court to permit Morris to withdraw his plea, in order that the District Attorney may move the dismissal of the indictment against him. This will be followed by a petition for a full pardon.

To tell the truth, said Dist. Atty. Cameron, "I am far from pleased to see Morris made the goat in this affair, and the way I feel, as a result of the outcome of the Wilde case, if anybody should try to get Morris pardoned, I think I should not condescend in driving away the rain."

No action looking to the dismissal of the second indictment against Louis J. Wilde, the San Diego banker, was taken today. The matter probably will come up tomorrow.

The second indictment charges Wilde with the embezzlement of $12,000 from the Oregon Trust and Savings Bank, and is somewhat similar to the indictment upon which he recently was tried for the alleged embezzlement of $50,000 from the same institution. The jury in the previous trial brought in a verdict of "not guilty" and the instructions of Judge Kavanaugh, who held that the State had not proved its case and that the indictment upon which the trial was based was insufficient.

KING AND QUEEN
ARE HOME AGAINGeorge and Mary Receive a Most Glorious Welcome.Special Services of Thanksgiving in England.Majesty's Salute of American Flag Enthralls.

BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—King George and Queen Mary returned to England today from the most memorable journey ever undertaken by a King and Queen of Great Britain and Ireland.After an absence of three months, during which they had been crowned Emperor and Empress of India, and had received the homage of many of their princely vassals in the vast eastern empire, they were given a hearty welcome back to London.Their present stay in the British Isles will be short, as they are due to pay a round of State visits to European courts next spring and summer.After breakfasting on board the Victoria and Albert, the King and Queen, accompanied by the Duke of Medina and Queen Mother Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and other royal children, Their Majesties landed and were saluted by the guns of the forts around Portsmouth.On the quay were drawn up guards of honor of blue-jackets and soldiers, who presented arms, while a military band struck up the national anthem.

GUARD OF HONOR.

The King inspected the guard of honor and then boarded a special train, in which he, with the Queen and the royal children, traveled to London through country covered with snow. All the stations along the route were decorated with flags. A large assemblage of notables was waiting at Victoria station when the train pulled in, soon after mid-day.The archway bearing the words
"Welcome Home" in gold lettering on a blue ground, was erected across the platform where Their Majesties alighted. Premier Asquith, with other members of the Cabinet, were the first to greet the King and Queen. A large group of members of the diplomatic corps and prominent officers of the navy and army in brilliant uniforms. The Lord Mayor and the Mayor of London, and the Lord Mayor of the principal cities of the British Isles, all wearing their regalia, were present to welcome Their Majesties.

When the greetings were over, a procession of five royal carriages was formed. The King and Queen, with the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, occupied the first carriage, which was drawn by four horses.
With its escort of light infantry in tall uniforms, the procession proceeded to Buckingham Palace, passing through Victoria street to Parli-ment square, and then along Whitehall and the Mall, through streets roaring with loyal cheers.

DAV OF RECEPTION.

Religious services of thanksgiving for the safe return of the King and Queen from the first visit ever paid by reigning sovereigns to their Indian possessions, were held this afternoon at Westminster Abbey, and the churches throughout the British Isles.An interesting incident happened in Victoria street as the King's carriage passed the American Embassy. King George, who was in the carriage, was turned toward the embassy and saluted the Stars and Stripes flying over the entrance.His Majesty's action drew an additional cheer from the crowd gathered in the vicinity.The enthusiasm of the crowds reached its climax at Buckingham Palace, where Their Majesties had entered the thousands of people who had assembled around the railings gazed successfully at God Save the King, "Auld Lang Syne," "Home,
Sweet Home" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."The Majesty responded to this demonstration by appearing on the balcony of the first floor when they were greeted with salvo after salvo of cheers.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The suit of Mrs.

decree of divorce, which in 1901 separated her from William Guggenheim of smelter fame, was set today for hearing February 7 in the Circuit Court.For many months the complainant has sought to have the divorce proceedings reviewed. She asserts the decree entered in Chicago eleven years ago is invalid because when the bill for divorce was filed she was not a resident of Illinois as was averred.Since the decree each of the parties married again and Mrs. Grace B. Gu-genheim figured again in divorce proceedings.

BLUMENBERG REITERATES IT.

Says Detective Stenographer
"Faked" His Notes.

More Sensations in the Lorrimer Inquiry.

Official Reporter of Senate Committee Fired.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Discharged as an official stenographer of the Senate Lorrimer Investigating Committee and awaiting possible further punishment for contempt, Milton W. Blumenberg today took the witness stand before the committee to tell why he branded as "manufactured" the stenographic report by J. E. Sheridan of alleged photographic simulations by Charles McGowan.

Statements made Saturday night before the committee that the notes were "faked," were repeated under oath. The tense situation into which the investigation has been unexpectedly shunted resulted in sharp passages between counsel and members of the committee.

Blumenberg's discharge came after his refusal to explain his conduct Saturday in ordering his stenographers to quit reporting the proceedings. Resolutions were adopted looking to his punishment for contempt and the committee attorneys began a search for precedents to bring Blumenberg before the bar of the Senate.

SHERIDAN'S TESTIMONY.
The testimony of J. E. Sheridan, the 19-year-old stenographer of the Burns Detective Agency, was then completed. The witness declared his notes were genuine. He reiterated that he had not attempted to report all that came over the phonographic apparatus from the room in which detectives were talking to McGowan.

Blumenberg told him he "examined" Sheridan's testimony as to his "qualifications," and how he watched over his shoulder as he read his notes at the witness stand.

The following series of questions from members of the committee as to Blumenberg's talks with Edward McGowan's alleged admissions in the C. P. Wiebe, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, Blumenberg said he did not remember whether or not Hines was in a group near the door after the Saturday afternoon session. He pronounced the notes as "absolutely manufactured."

WHAT HE SAID TO HINES.
The witness was asked what he said to Hines in the evening session, but before he made his statement before the committee.

"I have not the remotest idea," was the response.

"Why did you sit down beside McGowan?" asked Senator Lee.

"I was merely wanted to call his attention to the fabricated notes," was the answer.

"Did you know any?"

"Oh, yes, three members were as near to you as Hines. That was an answer won't do."

"I must do. I can't give any good name."

The committee demanded of Blumenberg the technical reasons for his opinion as to the notes. He said his experience of years led to that judgment. In the first place, he said, long hand had been interspersed in the notes. He counted five places where the word "too" was written in long hand.

"No one can take down a conversation of three men in long hand," he explained.

In conversation, he said, a man would start to say a thing and then change his expression. No such corrections were to be found in the notes he testified. He declared it impossible for a stenographer to pick out just the material parts of a conversation, because while he was dictating the words were being said.

DIVORCE FOR UPTON SINCLEAR.

Second Referee Tells the Supreme Court of New York that He Should Have a Decree.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Marshall S. Marsden, second referee appointed to take testimony in the suit for divorce of Upton Sinclear, reported in Supreme Court today in favor of the decree. Confirmation of the report was reserved. In his application Sinclear named as co-respondent Harry Kemp, the "tramp poet." The referee recommended a divorce, but the court ruled Sinclear had been allowed to testify on certain matters contrary to law.

DOOMED MEN SING DIRGE.

While Another Pays Penalty of Murder They Chant "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
OSWINGO (N. Y.) Feb. 5.—While the condemned inmates in the death house in Sing Sing prison, softly sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," Charles Swenton, a negro, was executed in the electric chair today for the murder of Isaac Lee. It was the first time in the history of the prison that the condemned have ever sung a dirge while another paid the life penalty.

Swenton shot and killed Isaac Lee on the night of November 3, 1910, at the latter's home on 161st street, New York City. Both were negroes.

The killing was the indirect result of a quarrel over the tariff. Lee said he could not understand how the "tramps" could have got hold of cod-fish, because there are so many in the pen.

This remark angered Swenton, who told Lee to "cut it out."

SOUL-MATE IN HOG.
DRIVES A WOMAN INSANE.
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Charles Willard Cary, who is said to have endeavored recently to form a soul-mate cult in Denver, was arrested today by Federal authorities and charged with having sent objectionable matter through the mails. The woman to whom the letters were sent was committed to the State Insane Asylum January 19 as Mrs. Charles Cary Willard and physicians stated that the letters were largely responsible for deranging her mind. Willard, or Cary, will be arraigned Monday.

BOYS WHISTLE IN CHURCH.

Their Tune Is "Stand Up for Jesus" and They Also Give a Eulogy Bible Yell.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
HILLSDALE (N. J.) Feb. 5.—Church services opened with an excellent imitation of a college yell, after which a boy choir whistled several Sunday-school song tunes, yesterday. This is a form of novel winter program at the Methodist Church here, of which the Rev. William Burd is pastor. The experiment was tried for the first time last night and is pronounced a complete success by the minister. The choir of boys lined up on the platform at the opening of the services and gave their "club yell," which is as follows:

"Say my friend—
"Have you seen—
"Second Timothy—
"Two-fifty-two—
"First Thessalonians—
"Five-twenty-two—
"Tells you exactly—
"What to do."

Then they whistled "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," and other hymns.

THE WOODMEN REVOLT.
Thousands of Circulars Issued by Men Made Insignificant by Increase in Insurance Rates.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 5.—Thousands of circulars have been issued by the Modern Woodmen assembly, organized January 31, to fight the adoption of increased insurance rates of the Modern Woodmen of America, to leaders of the organization in all parts of the United States. The circular asks all councils to send delegates to a mass meeting on February 22, when plans will be made for fighting the so-called Mobile bill adopted by the organization at the convention in Chicago recently.

Dentist's Patient Passes Three Bad Checks. Gets Land Mortgage, Cash and in Jail on One Morning.

When P. Goethals dropped in to see Dr. F. D. Kearney, a dentist in the Security building, for professional services, yesterday, he talked about his eighteen carload of cattle that he had just sold for $20,000. Kearney told him that he could not care for his tooth, as he was busy on a mining proposition that would take all his time.

Goethals said he would like to buy some realty. Kearney took him down to a real estate dealer and inside of about half an hour had given the real estate man a check for $11,000 on the first National Bank for a line of land. On the same day Goethals told the dentist that he was anxious to get a few dollars. Kearney had $5 in cash.

"Give it to me and I'll give you a check for $10,000," said Goethals. Kearney agreed. The money was passed and Kearney, bidding his new friend good-by, hurried to the bank. There he was met with the statement that no one knew Goethals and that no one had ever heard of him or of his "account." Kearney hastened to the District Attorney's office, where he swore to a warrant, issued by Justice Reeve, against the stranger, who was with Constable Thomas. They ran after the latter in the County Jail in default of $2500 bonds.

HEIR TO VAST ESTATE.

Eighty-five Million Dollars Locked up in Bank of England and Visited Man Hopes.

VISALIA, Feb. 5.—D. G. Normant, clerk in a Visalia store, is one of a score of claimants to an estate of $85,000,000 which has been claimed in the results of the Bank of England for the past 125 years. The case is not one of the usual fake-lawyer, lost-hair estates, and the story is as full of action as a yellow-back novel.

Normant has just been advised that the claim is to be presented to the English high court.

Normant, 150 years ago a Turk, named Koga Kozar, laid the foundation of an enormous fortune by his skill as a wrestler. He became the court favorite of the Sultan and when he died nearly 125 years ago his will was found to be one of the queerest ever written. He decreed that his fortune, even then immense, should be placed in trust in the Bank of England for 120 years and at the end of that time divided among his heirs at law.

When the period expired, which was several years ago, the bank communicated with the Turkish officials and receiving their assurance that the family had been wiped out, were considering a proposal for a division of the fortune between the bank and the Turkish government, when the Young Turks gained control of the affairs of the Moslem country. In the Turkish archives was found the correspondence relating to the case and this was placed in the hands of the Armenian church officials.

The government of Turkey, together with the church authorities, according to advice received by Normant, have traced forty of the direct descendants of the great wrestler. The Visalia claimant is a great-grandson of the old wrestler.

Several attorneys have been retained, including Turkish, English and American, and the claims are to be presented during the present year.

AFTER OIL IN VERDE VALLEY.

Arizona Enthusiasts Think They Have Field.

New Mexico Is Also Looking for New Industry.

Oil News of Interest from Fields of State.

There is keen expectation in the Verde Valley, below Jerome, Ariz., that an oil gusher may be developed at any hour in a drill hole now being sunk by the Verde Valley Oil Company, which has a rig at work on the old Camp Verde and Clear Fork. The drill is working in soft sand, and progress of about twenty feet a day has been made for the past week.

Oil in small quantities is already being taken into the hole at a depth of about 400 feet, and gas is escaping in large volumes. A drilling rig is being shipped from San Francisco for the development of land owned by the Verde Valley Oil Company. This will be the third rig which the operators of the Verde Valley have in place, and two others will be in operation before the end of the month.

Many residents at Mesa and Phoenix have large interests in the Verde Valley of Western New Mexico, south of Gallup, where the Verde Valley Oil and Refining Company is operating. In a well of this company, a depth of 400 feet has been reached and it is estimated that on the beam the well would produce thirty barrels of oil a day. The oil is to be pumped to the northward of large deposits of lignite coal, and is also a volcanic product, which is a lava flow of comparatively recent date.

There has arrived a Johnson rotary rig on the ground of the Arizona Oil Company in the Lost Hills Basin, near Mesquite, Cochise county, where a well has been drilled to a depth of 100 feet. The local conditions are considered extremely favorable for the development of oil.

Drilling has just been ordered for a well in southwestern Maricopa county, north of Sentinel Butte, where many thousands of acres of land have been filed upon by the Verde Valley Oil Company, which is believed to be the locality of the promise for the development of oil.

In Santa Paula field, the Santa Paula Oil Company is one of the most active operators in the Santa Paula field, and has recently increased its holdings to a large extent. The company is now operating a large number of wells in the field.

Among those who have increased their holdings in the Santa Paula field are B. S. Hanks, W. H. Rhea and James Legg. The company is now operating a large number of wells in the field.

forty feet of landing stages placed on reinforced concrete piling.

ALL OF CONCRETE. The superstructures are all to be of concrete. They include the passenger stations on the ends of the area, the transit sheds on the main fill and the shops and repair stations near the shore lines. The construction is to provide for traveling cranes of modern type for unloading cargoes. Sixteen railroad tracks are to connect with the transit sheds and temporary warehouses and there is a roadway through the middle on which an electric railway, presumably the municipal harbor line in time, will gain access to the end of the area.

This plan is believed to be definite and complete enough to satisfy the War Department that it is necessary to dredge the outer harbor and channels to a depth of thirty-six feet to facilitate commerce. It is not regarded as more than a plan for this single unit of harbor improvement. When it is adopted the commission expects to ask the War Department to reopen its request for the dredging and secure an appropriation at this session of Congress. The government once declined to consider dredging because Los Angeles had no plan of improvement in sight.

The determination to use concrete, in face of the engineer's objections, is stated by E. Gibbon, of the commission, to answer to necessities. One is fire protection. He says the port will be one of the largest oil ports in the country and that the danger to oil shipping from an accident to oil in storage requires every precaution. Being within 400 feet of the Miner fill, which is the export station of the Union Oil Company, the need of precaution is increased.

"We also want to answer the need for modern harbor construction. We are satisfied that wooden construction represents the obsolete, while concrete is modern. The harbor builders of the world are now using it except in some cases where there is special reason for not doing so."

MORMON ISLAND WHARF. Concrete, according to orders given yesterday, will also be used for the construction of the 2400-foot wharf on Mormon Island channel in the inner harbor.

During the session the commission received a communication from the Conference Committee representing seven commercial organizations that are demanding some immediate improvement of the harbor. Willis H. Booth is chairman of this committee. He called attention to the need of warehouses, repair stations, fuel provisions and a score of other harbor improvements. The Hamilton plan calls for a repair station and a drydock and also a municipal bonded warehouse and customs house.

During his visit to the port M. Casimir Perier urged provision for coal and suggested, in order to prevent combination between fuel dealers and export charges to shipping, the establishment of a municipal coal station. The commission discussed using the area 100 by 1000 feet it is entitled to on the outer edge of the Miner fill.

WHERE SHALL IT BEGIN? When Hamilton reports this completed plan in two weeks the knotty problem will then be before the commission. That problem is to designate where the work will begin. The most useful portion in the judgment of the commission heretofore has been the deep water end. This will permit deep draft ships to come under their own power to dock. Hamilton has favored beginning work at the end of the area, as the amount of money in sight is insufficient for the whole work, and the time is too short for the problem is not an easy one.

The commission declined to express its mind yesterday, preferring to wait for details and an estimate of cost.

Gibbon said the commission would in two weeks select the most useful portion within the means of the city and go as far as the money will permit. Of the $2,000,000 of bonds authorized for the harbor improvement, $1,250,000 is held for the harbor highway condemnation through San Pedro. This leaves $1,250,000 for construction of docks and wharves. It is believed the plan approved yesterday will take twice that sum.

"We will go as far as we can," said Gibbon, "and then it will be up to the people to authorize further debt to complete the work. The city promised $10,000,000 for harbor improvement. The bonds already authorized are merely a beginning."

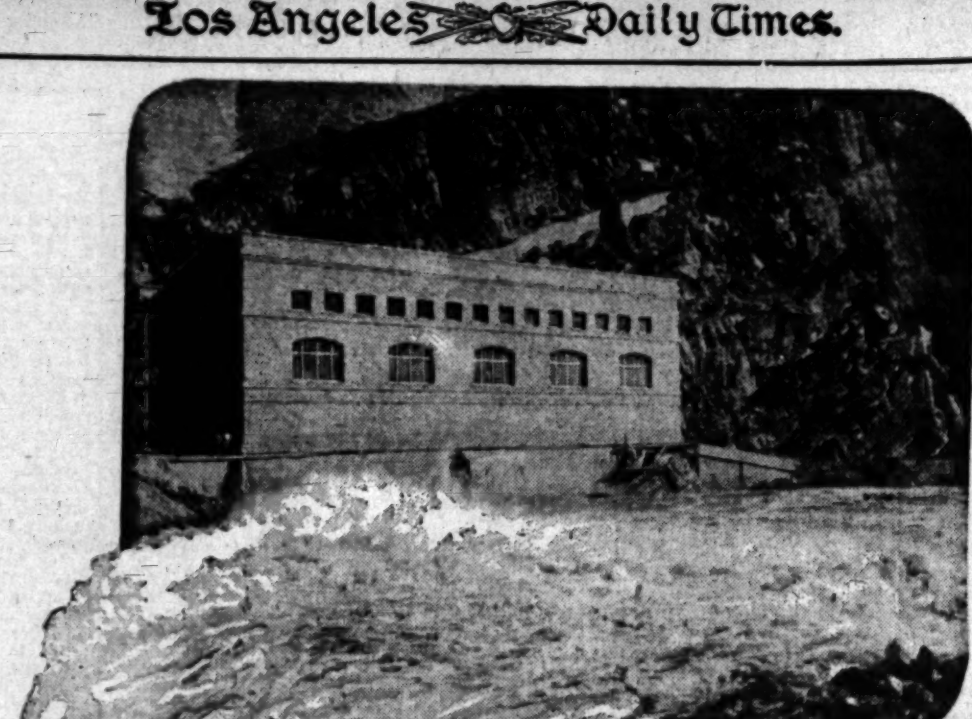

COUNTY SCHOOL AFFAIRS. Dispute Over Palms District Affairs Acted Upon in Resolution by the Supervisors.

The Supervisors passed a resolution yesterday afternoon, recommending to the Superintendent of Schools the annexation of Wolfkill's ranch to the Sawtelle school district. The ranch is located in the Palms district and a number of citizens from that place appeared before the board and objected to the proposed change.

A petition was filed two weeks ago asking the change. Superintendent Kropf announced some time ago that he favored placing the ranch in the Sawtelle district.

The Palms district objects to losing the territory which is valued at $240,000, and Wolfkill objects because the annexation in Sawtelle is higher than in the Palms district. More than 100 taxpayers in Palms signed a petition filed with the board protesting against the change.

Van Nuys school bonds valued at $50,000 were sold to the James H. Adams Company yesterday, by the Supervisors. The premium paid was $1291.

Great power house and tremendous flow of water at base of Roosevelt Dam.

The Roosevelt water system affords owners of Chandler Ranch lands the cheapest and most reliable water supply in the Southwest.

Roosevelt Reservoir—18 miles long, contains sufficient water to irrigate the entire valley for three seasons, if not a drop of rain fell.

Chandler Ranch is owned outright by Michigan and Arizona capitalists, who would not subdivide and sell it but for the fact that the Government has ruled that Roosevelt water will not be furnished to any one person for more than 160 acres. Special excursion rates from Los Angeles to Chandler Ranch four days each week. Mesa Improvement Company, 122 West Sixth Street, Ground Floor, near S. P. Ticket Office, Los Angeles. Home F3673—Main 984.

Chandler Ranch includes pro rata ownership in the Water User's Association of Salt River Valley, which will eventually own the entire irrigation system, including the dam, wells, power plants and canals.

Why pay $200 and upwards for alfalfa and fruit lands with costly water rates, when the best alfalfa and citrus fruit land in the entire West is available here at $100 per acre and on ten-year buying terms? Is it any wonder that close to $350,000 worth of Chandler Ranch lands have been sold to California ranchers in the past few weeks? Search the United States from Maine to California and you will find no agricultural opportunity to compare with this. The buying activity at Chandler Ranch has exceeded any of the Southern California agricultural land records of the last ten years. S.S.S. FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which gradually gets into the circulation because of indigestion, constipation, weak kidney action, and other irregularities of the system which are sometimes considered of no importance. This uric acid causes an inflamed and irritated condition of the blood, and the circulation instead of nourishing the different portions of the body, continually deposits into the nerves, muscles, tissues and joints, the irritating, pain-producing acid with which it is filled. Rheumatism can only be cured by a thorough cleansing of the blood, and this it just what S. S. S. does. It goes down into the circulation, and by neutralizing the uric acid and driving it from the blood, effectually and surely removes the cause. S. S. S. strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, causing pain and agony throughout the system, it becomes an invigorating, nourishing fluid, furnishing health and vigor to every part of the body and relieving the suffering caused by this disease. S. S. S. being a purely vegetable blood purifier is the surest and best cure for Rheumatism in any of its forms. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

HERE'S A REASON.

A society woman and a young plumber dropped to New York and committed suicide. Two young people who eloped from Los Angeles to Goldfield were put in jail on a charge of raising checks. Elopements where the principals are not free and in cases where they haven't the price are out of the natural order. Many affairs of this kind end in suicide or jail because death and imprisonment are the extreme penalties for being out of order.

A POOR EXCUSE.

A rich man in Oregon played with fire. At the end of this popular pastime he found himself the hero of a breach of the peace suit. He does not enjoy the name that in this drama and says that he was unfamiliar with the rules and ways of designing women. In using this as a moral example to our readers we wish to call attention to the fact that ignorance is never an excuse in the eyes of the law. It must be admitted, however, that the Oregon man is not unique in his failure to understand women.

THEY NEED IT.

The world always has two kinds of fools to protect. Broadly speaking, they are divided into those who give advice and those who take it. In questions of health many persons are medicine mad. They are ready to advise any kind of quick procedure to escape commonly accepted treatments and they can always find feeble-minded ones who are ready to put the most absurd theories into practice. For the sake of those who are willing to make extravagant experiments the conviction of Dr. Hammond, the Seattle woman who starved a patient to death, may be of public benefit.

FACING THE ISSUE.

South Pasadena, Alhambra and Pasadena have appointed a committee to solve the question of congested traffic on Main street in Los Angeles. This is their problem as much as the problem of Los Angeles because the traffic is dependent upon Main street as an outlet and its congestion means late dinners in many cities. It must be clear to everyone by this time that while San Pedro street might offer some relief, the final solution must be either an elevated road or a subway. The traffic out San Gabriel Valley way increases daily and nothing short of one of the two measures mentioned will ever meet the constant demand for faster service.

EASY COURAGE.

The turkey trot and the grisly bear, turned from dance halls, but popular in Society, is the legend of a cartoon in a contemporary. Poor Society seems to cover a multitude of unmetted rebukes. The public at large has the habit of expressing its opinion and moral courage by making attacks upon Society. It is the target of the endless chain-belt of the virtuous. The demagogue every busybody makes a football of Society as the subject for a general tackle every time he is moved to start something. Unquestionably Society has its faults, but most of the charges made against it are both malicious and false and few of them are made by way of honest criticism or in the hope of setting things right.

TIPPING AND TIPPING.

Kentucky is rapidly losing the mellow flavor of its cavalier days. Already it is largely enlivened under the prohibition and "no gambling" banners of modern reform; now the passage of an anti-tipping law in hotels and restaurants has added to the removal list of old landmarks.

Soon the old-fashioned colonel, who ordered his three fingers of "sour mash" or set and stirred his mint julep while he engaged on the merits of his last colt after throwing a lively quarrel to the obnoxious dark attendant, will survive only in Southern melodrama.

UNPOPULAR WORKS.

A man named Works who was sent to Washington to represent California seems to have put himself out in order to misrepresent Los Angeles at Chicago. He made a speech there a few days ago in which he is quoted as having criticized the medical examination of public school pupils here. His alleged charges with regard to sex examination were refuted as untrue by a member of the local board of education at its meeting last Saturday. The present investigation which the Board of Education is making of the health department of the city schools is timely, not because anything is wrong with the service, but because it seems to be demonstrated that the service may be made more effective by a division of the work. For Senator Works, however, to jump at conclusions in Chicago before the investigation in Los Angeles is completed and for him to set those immature conclusions in public to this city's disadvantage is about as needless and unfair a procedure as a half-baked statesman could well adopt. His awkward blunder would be sufficiently embarrassing if his statements were true, but the facts thus far brought before the Board of Education do not sustain the general charges. Senator Works's remarks would be better left in the hands of the enemy and not in the hands of a supposed friend.

IN DEFENSE OF BRIBERY.

Those in control of that organ of an apologist for assassination, the San Francisco Bulletin, seem unable or unwilling to follow the example of old John Harper, the Kentucky racing chieftain, and "own up, day up and shut up" when they are beaten. When the embers of the Times Building were still glowing and the charred remains of its faithful workmen were still unburied the Bulletin asserted that the explosion was caused by gas. When, on unimpeachable testimony, the Citizens' Committee, the Coroner's jury and the grand jury exposed the untruth and the fallacy of this assumption, the dynamiter's defender adhered to the absurd lie and supplemented it in its news columns with the intimation that Gen. Otis had arranged to liberate the gas so as to blow up the Times and murder its workmen for the purpose of charging it to union labor and discrediting the closed shop. When the efforts of Detective Burns led to the indictment and arrest of the McNamara brothers, the Bulletin filled its editorial columns with denunciations of the crime of "kidnaping" them. In season and out of season it proclaimed its belief in their innocence and again advanced the gas theory and asserted that they were being "railroaded" to the gallows by the Times in order to glut its vengeance against union labor and express its devotion to "Big Business," "Predatory Wealth" and "Lethal Capitalism." When the McNamaras, without expressing contrition for their awful deed, admitted their guilt in order to avoid the gallows, the Bulletin did not condemn them nor recant any of its lies.

For a while this mephitic organ of murder and anarchy was silent. It had exhausted all the adjectives of the slums in its denunciation of Darrow or his associates for their robbery of honest union laborers of from two hundred thousand to one million dollars—some small portion of which may have gone into the pockets of the Bulletin gang.

Now that Darrow is indicted and awaiting trial for attempted bribery, it seeks to succor him. It makes a circus bill of its first page and in glaring headlines says, "Darrow is Marked for Prison." "The Defender of Labor Faces New Fight in Union Conflict." "Clarence Darrow, Champion of Workers' Right to Live, Faces Ancient Class Enemy in Los Angeles."

Under these captions the Bulletin says: "Marked for State's prison by the Los Angeles prosecutors, Clarence S. Darrow, foremost champion of labor in the courts, is at last threatened with the penalty of death for his part in the robbery of thousands before him have paid for fighting too recklessly the battles of the weak and friendless."

"Fighting too recklessly" consists of bribing jurors, perhaps.

The Bulletin continues its delirious of Darrow as follows:

"Of tremendous significance is it to the many who know and love Darrow—judges, distinguished men of letters, college professors, labor leaders, jailbirds, Jewish immigrants, traders, that today's indictment for bribery should charge an act that might spring from just that passionate devotion to labor and equally passionate contempt for America's treatment of labor in her courts that has prompted his lifelong conflict for the under dog."

In all this the Bulletin does not assert that Darrow is not guilty of attempting to bribe jurors. It defends not the man accused of crime but the alleged crime itself, (of which Darrow may or may not be guilty) on the ground that it was an act of "passionate devotion to labor." Darrow did what he may have done, according to the Bulletin, because "he was the poor rotting in tenements and their daughters sinking into lives of shame."

If the honest, industrious, well-paid union laborers of Los Angeles like this description of their homes and their daughters their tastes are peculiar.

If the San Francisco apostle of anarchy had contented itself with defending Darrow on the ground of his innocence of the act charged the Times would not have criticized it. The Times expresses no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Darrow. That is a matter for the court and jury to determine. But the defense of the crime of bribery on the ground that it was committed by a poet and an orator because of his "passionate devotion" to the cause of the poor is, in view of the admitted fee of $50,000, a nauseous dose of anarchy and depraved journalism. The Bulletin certainly is of the worst fifth in the cesspool.

LOVE AND ETHICS.

L. Elie Key has followed her "Love and Marriage" by a much shorter treatment of the same subject in a little book of seventy-three pages called "Love and Ethics." (Houben, New York, 50 cents net.) Of course a woman who has held the chair of Civilization at the University of Stockholm for twenty years brings to any subject which she has specialized a rarely mature judgment. Her conception of happiness as a duty in its relation to love will have a wide appeal since it means health of body and peace of mind to those who grow together in a natural affection and since to the children of such a union it bequeaths the heritage of rich personalities. It is not her intention to combat the idea that mankind must strive for the elevation of the human race through the selective instinct, but in this work, as in her former studies of this subject, she pleads that in considering hereditary influences, more attention be paid to the effect of love. She does not deny that everything in life is connected with sex love, but insists that humanity shall one day reach the point where no erotic discord will exist between the soul and the senses. She thinks souls grow greater when issuing from the union of great feelings and the power and the right of love will be enlarged with an endeavor to elevate love to higher levels. She says the evolutionary view of life must include the sex relation and make demands upon it for the advancement of life by spreading a sort of holiness over the entire kingdom of sex and by making it the object of reverence in that it serves advancement.

There is, perhaps, nothing new in her plea for the value of love to the individual and to the race. We think there is much more of individual happiness in love than exceptional students are likely to recognize. Nor can we take Elie Key's criticisms of American standards in the least seriously for we in this country have not gone quite mad on the question of woman's self-maintenance and in no country in the world does pure romance have wider sway than here.

EVERY CITIZEN A POLICEMAN.

A great many of our citizens are really unaware that the right to vote carries with it the duty and the privilege of assisting the police whenever called upon to do so. One does not have to wear a star or to belong to the State militia to hold an ex officio position as defender of the commonwealth. And he who fails to exercise the prerogative, whenever the necessity for doing so arises, is not living up to his dignified calling as an American citizen.

In appointing extra officers to deal with the winter influx of frozen-out brake-beam hobos from the East, Chief Sebastian has just reminded the public of the duty imposed on them to help the constable in preserving the peace. Our public-spirited citizens in Los Angeles are always willing to do their share—quite outside of the paying of taxes—in aiding the police in their added duties, caused by the vast increase of population from winter travel westward.

An inquisitive vigilance and a hearty cooperation with the regular force will be of inestimable value in keeping our streets clear of crooks, rags and hold-up men. Let us all pull together for this desirable object. Let us show our eastern visitors a city clean and beautiful, not only in climate and surroundings but in every other respect.

UNCLE WALT.

The poet philosopher.

The wise old lad who writes an ad steers clear of wearisome digression, he knows he should be understood if he would make a good impression. Old Jabs Dink with printer's ink kicked up a large and noisy shindy, but didn't sell his dry goods well, because his ads were long and windy. And now he rants around and pants and cusses in a style surprising. "One thing I know," he says, "by Joe there is no good in advertising." But Gaffer Spink buys printer's ink, and clothes his ads in happy diction, and people read his every scribble as though it were a masterpiece of fiction. His breezy ads bring him the seeds and fill his store with eager buyers, while merchants near by by the year and chew the cat with weather bars. Says Gaffer Spink: "I surely think that when I've goods to place before them, I shouldn't try to make folks buy, by starting in to tire and bore them. And so I write my ads as bright and forceful as my hand can do them." Thus Gaffer brags, "I sell my rags—I don't sit round my store and chew them!"

THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

(Ontario Daily Report.) The reorganized Illustrated Sunday magazine of the Los Angeles Times is a magnificent exponent of the sensational Southwest. Reporters thought it a pretty readable supplement to the big Sunday Times before, but now it's a mighty magazine in itself. There is an individuality about it as characteristic of the Times as the Times is of the Southwest. Many men of many minds may differ with the Times as to the politics and such, but there can be no two opinions about the fact that the Los Angeles Times is the one big boost of Southern California. It seemed before as if the limit had been reached in publicity for the superior soil and choice climate of Southern California, but in the Illustrated weekly of the Times, it seems the Times is as responsive and expansive in new wonders and new developments as this marvelous Southern California itself. Dr. Eliot measured his standard authors by a five-foot staff, but it is no extravagant praise to say the Sunday Times magazine fills a whole shelf itself as a herald and glorifier of the world's wonderland south of Tehachapi's top.

By the way, what has become of the Hitchcock resignation rumor?

MEN AND THINGS ACROSS THE SEA.

The German Emperor has established the custom of disregarding primogeniture in the bestowal of titles of nobility. When a person dies whom he has raised to the nobility the title lapses instead of descending to the eldest son who is not always the member of the family best qualified to administer the fortunes of his house, or to represent it in the forum as a legislator. The first born is quite often the black sheep of the family, and it is to this that must be ascribed the ruin of many a great house of the aristocracy and the discredit brought upon the system of hereditary legislation. In Great Britain there are scores of historic families which would be far more advantageously represented in the House of Lords, and with much more benefit to the Commonwealth, by the cadets of the house, instead of by its chief through primogeniture.

The Kaiser's scheme goes far to solve this problem and get over this difficulty by reserving to the crown in the hereditary honors now conferred the prerogative of selecting the heir to the title. The Emperor, in short, bestows the honors "ad personam." Sometimes the Emperor does not continue the title at all in any member of the family, either on account of personal prejudice or because it is glaringly evident that there is no one of the family worthy to inherit the honor.

The war in Tripoli, which continues in a desultory fashion, has given scientists, particularly archaeologists, an opportunity to make valuable examinations and discoveries in ancient ruins. When the Arabs and Turks were driven from Ain-Zara, a great mosaic, consisting of many temples and of numerous magnificent pieces of sculpture, was found in the outskirts.

A little further on the scientists came upon an even more interesting discovery. This was a vast Roman villa, with fountains, baths and bathing pools. During the life of the Romans, Ain-Zara and its environs was a center of elegant life, according to several historians, and these discoveries go to prove the truth of their statements.

British ship owners are considering a proposal of Herr Ballin that both German and British ship owners should, instead of disposing of old liners to probable competitors, break them up and receive some 25 per cent. of their original value from an insurance fund to be contributed to by all.

The Britishers are inclined to view the scheme with favor, especially as they are the chief sufferers from the kind of competition to which Herr Ballin wishes to put a stop. Most discarded British ships are sold to foreigners who place them under the flags of their own countries and thus obtain the benefit of lower shipping laws than those with which Britishers are compelled to comply.

The British government is erecting in Parkhurst forest, near the old convict prison, a "prison hotel," where an expert must be made in the new treatment of habitual offenders. Under an act recently passed by Parliament, judges are empowered to order the detention of prisoners after they have served terms of penal servitude. Habitual prisoners are ordered to be detained have been kept in the ordinary prisons. Now they will be sent to the "prison hotel," a structure with comfortably arranged and decorated cells, admirably lighted and ventilated. The regulations allow the prisoners to dine and have other meals in an association hall, and good conduct will earn the privilege of purchasing table extras at a dry canteen. There are also rooms for reading recreation.

Still it is not all pleasure; there is some work to be done. The government has purchased a lot of forest land, of which 100 acres is in the process of clearance for those men who are to be taught agriculture and horticulture. Others will be practiced in the skilled trades. In this way England hopes to decrease the number of habitual offenders, many of whom, having no trade, go back to crime after each term of imprisonment.

Lord Lamington who is no tyro in Persian affairs, has been much exasperated with the Asquith administration by its policy with regard to Persia in the present Russo-Persia affair, and he has openly avowed his friendship for and support of Corban Shuster. Lord Lamington was the girlish friend of Queen Mary, and is now one of her ladies-in-waiting.

In Australia Lord Lamington endeavored himself to the people and appealed to their sporting instincts by mastering the art of backgammon. He has explored every part of Mexico and of Spain, has traveled in Russian Armenia from Tiflis to Ararat, and is known among his relatives and intimate friends as Wallace, not only because it is his Christian name, but because of his pride in his descent from Scotland's famous hero, Sir William Wallace.

A TOOL-CHEST ROMANCE.

[Judge:] "It is 'plains' that I love you," he began.

"Is that on the level?" she asked.

"Haven't I always been on the 'square' with you?" he urged.

"But you have so many 'rises,'" she remonstrated.

"Not a 'bit' of it," he asserted.

"What made you 'brace up'?" she queried coquishly.

"The fact that I 'saw' you," he replied with a bow.

"I ought to 'hammer' you for that," she answered saucily.

"Come and sit by me on the 'bench,'" he urged.

"Suppose the others should 'file' in?" she murmured.

"Let me 'clamp' you to my heart," he pleaded.

"You shouldn't let your arms 'compass' me," she replied.

"I know a preacher who's a good 'joiner,'" he suggested.

"Promise not to 'chisel' him out of his fee," she requested.

"That wouldn't 'angur' well for us," he answered.

"Shall I wear my 'blue print'?" she asked, as they started for the license.

Why is it that one woman, with but a fleeting glance at another of the sex, can tell what she has on down to the very last button? A man can spend an evening with a male friend and not be able to tell how he was dressed.

Pen Points: By the Staff.

Just as we expected, with the official close of the Tripoli-Italian war, the Balkan war cloud is again looming.

Kindly add a new word to the political vocabulary—"Underwoodism"—to attempt, to push through, etc.

And the old-fashioned school girl, who always carried her portfolio with her books, what has become of her?

The Flagler railway to Key West is completed, and the town is now a part of the American continent.

Some of the political enemies of President Taft are indulging in the free and unlimited coinage of baldness.

The Serbian Cabinet has resigned in a body. And the Swiss navy has been placed on a war footing in consequence.

Chancellor Day has come out for Woodrow Wilson. As Col. Bryan puts it: "The son must expect some disappointments."

The eastern weather is the Meteorologist's booster for Los Angeles on the job. And it is not "personally conducted" by Secretary Wiggins, either.

Arthur Rockefeller, a cousin of the oil magnate, has been chosen to death by obstruction in his windpipe. John D. Rockefeller refuses to swallow some things.

Matters in China are still in a turmoil, and it may be necessary for the sake of peace to speak to the Manchus in "plain English."

The Presidential boom of Gov. Felt is looking up. He has been endorsed by the official organ of the Prohibition party. He will that help him any?

Speaking of the new-fangled dances that have been seen in Los Angeles of late, it might be in order to introduce the Fyrmann Rock and the Oliver Twist.

The political prophets will please sit New York to the list of Taft States, and New York counts both in the convulsion and the Electoral College, if anybody should ask you.

The moving picture man will move his machine to Torre del Greco for a new look on the trial of the Camorrista. We wonder what had become of that celebrated case.

"When women dress like men they look shorter than they are," says a dress expert. And when the women dress as the most of them desire, the men are much the shorter.

"La Follette's friends are staunch and true," cries one of the Progressives. Yes, the La Follette Magazine is still putting with pride. It will view with alarm later on in the game.

Detective Burns sitting between Woodrow Wilson and Senator La Follette at that publishers' dinner in Philadelphia must have felt like the slice of roast beef in a sandwich.

With an opportunity for the enactment of a home rule bill, some of the Irish are preparing to lift the blackboard and dole out the heads of the defendants of the proposition. That is the Irish of it.

Visitors from Utah and Washington are crowding Los Angeles this week. Extend the right hand of fellowship to every stranger within our gates. Los Angeles welcomes them all.

The invitation has been extended to the nations of the earth to attend the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, and the tongues to be heard at the Midway will rival those of Babel.

Additional accommodations are required for the State officials in Sacramento. There is no special reason why California should have two capitals, unless the second was in Los Angeles, the metropolis of the commonwealth.

In the absence of anything particular to talk about, the Democrats are discussing the unit rule for the Baltimore convention. Experience has shown that it is impossible only with those who happen to be in a majority of a State organization and not in a fluency a majority of the State delegation.

The House Committee on Commerce is quoted as being opposed to the free passage of American ships through the Panama Canal, a proposition very much favored by Los Angeles. It is almost apparent that the contest regarding the use of the waterway will be over free trade in the coastwise trade.

"Virginia's Greatest Scholar, Edgar Allan Poe," was the subject of an address before the Virginia Society a few evenings ago. But Poe was not a son of Virginia, he was born in Boston in 1809. The gifted poet was adopted by John Allan, a rich tobacco merchant of Richmond, but never solved the association on account of Poe's bad habits. Poe did attend the University of Virginia, and afterward enlisted in the army under an assumed name, Edgar A. Perry.

A NEW NEPOTISM.

'Tis well to be the son of royalty. To claim a kinship with the great. But better far 'tis counted to relate Yourself thereby by deeds of loyalty.

Nay, Virtue passes not from sire to son. But each must for himself contrive. By virtuous living in the conscious eye. The noble structures by his sire begin.

WHAT WAS THE MATTER WITH JOHNNY COULON?

INDIO, Feb. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Was in grand shape up to Thursday, when climate seemed to get me. It made me feel tired and drowsy. I lay it to the short time I was there.

Regarding contest, I am very sorry that I did not show in my true form. I honestly believe I would have stopped him if I had been myself. As it was I begged Conley to come out of his shell and give the people a run for their money, and fight. If I return I will see that I am there long enough to become acclimated.

JOHNNY COULON, Bantamweight Champion.

Battling Chico, Bantamweight.

Who is regarded by fight experts as the most promising youngster to come up since Johnny Coulon's debut.

Mister Hogan.

HAP HOGAN REPLACES THE REBELLIOUS W. CARLISLE.

HAP HOGAN has put down the insurrection, and Walter Carlisle, the star center fielder of the Vernon team, appears to be out in the cold, cold world.

Yesterday, when Carlisle returned his contract to Hogan without signature, Hap promptly canceled him from the Vernon arrangements.

In his place the Vernon manager has already engaged Dick Bayless of the Mobile team. If Carlisle plays with the team next season he will have to climb down from his pedestal and sue for peace.

"The trouble," said Hap yesterday, "came unexpectedly. I hadn't an idea that Carlisle would refuse to sign the contract."

"I don't care to state the exact figure that we were paying him, but it was a very high salary for this league—much better than he received in the American Association."

"The truth is Walter was peevish because I didn't get him into one of the big leagues. He had a fine season last year with several sensational plays that went all over the country. He thought I ought to sell him to one of the big leagues."

"I couldn't do this because none of them wanted to buy him. He was drafted by the Brooklyn team and the St. Louis Americans. Drafts were also put in by Philadelphia for Clipes. When it came to the drawing, Clipes was taken and Carlisle was not. Therefore it was for him to come back to Vernon. We were planning to play him in left field this season."

"When I sent him his contract the other day, he sent it back with a letter saying that he was not satisfied and thought he would go into business instead of playing ball this season."

Hap has a sensational surprise that will knock everybody over in a faint in the grand stand the first day the Villagers appear on the diamond next season.

The team will discard the usual sweaters worn while on the bench and wear bathrobes instead.

Hap is all aglow with the brilliance of his own inspiration.

"In this part of the State," he says, "the players really do not need sweaters; but they have to wear something of the kind in Portland and San Francisco."

"I noticed that most of the men had a habit of throwing their sweaters over their shoulders instead of putting on the sleeves, and that gave me the idea of having long robes coming to the shoe tops."

HAP WAS ELECTED! The Vernon Baseball Association held its annual meeting yesterday and elected officers. Eddie Maier was again elected president and Hap manager.

BANTAM CHAMPION BROKEN-HEARTED OVER POOR SHOW

All the Other Little Fellows Are Eager to Get at Him on Account of His Utter Failure to Hurt Frankie Conley—Battling Chico Bursts Into the Limelight—Probably the Climate's to Blame.

JOHNNY COULON, bantamweight champion of the world, blew into town a couple of weeks ago, blase and self-confident, and rather bored with the prospect of having to whip Frankie Conley.

Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champion of the world, left town yesterday, downhearted and troubled, and sad.

There is no use to deny that he hurt his reputation badly by his showing with Conley.

Although the masters of boxing were delighted with his technique, the bantam champion made a bad showing. He had expected to knock Conley cold; every one expected him to—including many of Conley's best friends. But he hardly scratched Frankie in the fight.

Ever since the last gong rang for the end of the fight, Coulon has been worrying over the showing that he made. His intimate friends say that he left for New Orleans yesterday quite broken-hearted. Although he has over twenty good fight offers, he will accept any reasonable terms to come back to Los Angeles.

His rather dismal showing was the topic of discussion yesterday on prize fighters' row.

Many of the experts thought that Coulon started in too fast in the first round and exhausted himself before the fight had fairly started.

JOHNNY ADMITS IT. "Johnny is too honest and fine a fellow to try to bluff it out," said his manager. "He realizes that something was the matter. He all agree that it must have been the climate. On Thursday before the fight he said, 'I don't believe I like this climate. I don't believe I like this climate. I don't believe I like this climate.'"

"I saw in a minute when he began fighting that he wasn't himself. I went around to the corner and asked what was the matter. Johnny was almost crying with chagrin."

"What do you think?" he said to his second. "This fellow Conley is so slow that he couldn't hit a mud turtle asleep, but he is jabbing me in the face."

"Johnny couldn't get Conley to take his arms down. The Italian boy kept covering up so that he peeked out from between his arms as though they were bars. Several times Coulon called out to him, 'Conley, open up! Give the people a run for their money,' but Conley wouldn't come out. 'Coulon was so tired that he couldn't do anything. After the sec

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: These are the days when one needs a really good what is claimed for it. It soothes chaps and is cleansing and cooling as well as whitening. It is pleasant to apply.

to his gentleness and godliness. In the picturesque and poetic language of the Oriental race, she told of her early life in Palestine. Born at Baalbek—a little town at the foot of Mt. Lebanon, fifty miles south of Damascus—she received her education in a little girl at Sidon near Tyre, in a Presbyterian school. Referring to the shepherd life of her native country, she reported in Arabic that sweetest song ever written, the Shepherd Psalm. She spoke of the signs of the times indicating the great awakening of Syria and the fulfillment of the prophecy concerning the return of the Jews to Jerusalem.

Miss Halder has been engaged in mission work here for several years and her splendid training for the work, added to her unusually attractive personality, has resulted in most effective service among the people of her race.

Following the quick disposal of the court of technical defenses in the government's conspiracy cases against O. A. Treadwell, Anton Johansson, E. A. Clancy and J. E. Munsey, the attorneys for the defendants created much surprise in the United States District Court yesterday morning by insisting upon a speedy trial. The case will be set for trial this morning. The defendants pleaded not guilty to the three separate charges. Under the true bills returned several weeks ago by the Federal grand jury, Treadwell, Johansson, Clancy and Munsey are charged with conspiring to transport high explosives from various interstate points to Los Angeles.

The labor-union leaders were expected to make a desperate technical defense and the action of their lawyers appeared a great surprise to the government prosecutors, who were prepared to uphold the correctness of the indictments.

For some reason or other it is evident that the laborites wish to get through with the pending criminal actions in short order. The date of trial will depend entirely upon the condition of Judge Wellborn's calendar.

The first proceeding when the cases of the United States against Treadwell and others were called was to add the name of Bert Schlesinger of San Francisco, to the list of counsel for the defense. Attorney Davis then submitted the motions and demurrers without argument.

The court intimated that upon their face the true bills appeared to be drawn in due form, but that if there was to be any question he wished time to carefully examine the documents. The defense did not wish, evidently, for even that delay, for Davis added that an immediate ruling of the court would be satisfactory.

Judge Wellborn thereupon denied the motions and demurrers. Special Prosecutor Lawler, who, with United States District Attorney McCormick, is handling the government end of the case, asked that the four defendants' pleas be accepted "not guilty" to each of the three indictments.

Lawler then said the matter of trial should be settled and that as it was a felony case, he believed it was necessary for the defendants to be present in court when such was done. After a whispered conference with his associates, he advised that the setting of the trial be postponed until the following day. There was no objection.

After leaving the courtroom, John Harriman, Davis, George Appell and Schlesinger, all retained by the defense, repaired to Darrow's former office in the building for conference. Clancy, whose heart beat to trouble him shortly after the Federal investigation began, was not accompanied by his nurse yesterday. He appeared to be in good health. It was positively denied by the defense that Clancy made any admissions in the government officials that might be used against the accused. After the conspiracy case is set for trial, the defense attorneys will be free to depart for their respective homes unless some new action is instituted against them.

Automobiles for the Veterans.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(To The Editor of The Times): The national encampment of the G. A. R. will meet in Los Angeles this fall. The several Grand Army posts of the city are now taking preliminary steps to make the occasion an epoch in the history of our great city. Now, in regard to the parade that is expected of the veterans I have a word to say and hope that The Times will give the parade the attention it deserves. The veterans are rightly named. They range from about 65 to 90 years of age. Most of them are sick and feeble. The idea of their having to trudge about through the streets of this "automobile city" is abhorrent. If Mayors, politicians, Senators and newspaper men or other visitors can be automobiles over the city, let the city see that the pathetic derelicts who held "that trembling hill upon the slippery slopes of Gettysburg" and "battered down the gates of Richmond" do not have to drag their emaciated bodies along our city's streets in order that a few curious people may lift their hair and cheer.

I sometimes wonder if the Senators and Representatives and Governors and editors who so vigorously oppose any increase in pensions for the veterans of the Civil War have ever read of the faithful service rendered by these men, once the flower of American courage, loyalty, brain and brawn—who while in southern prisons with hunger gnawing their vitals and while insanity was climbing into their brains before they lost their flag when offered their freedom to do so.

While Father Time with mien profound Shall roll his great millennium 'round, And all behold in letters bold Their names in heaven's book enrolled.

Their grateful future ages.
Come, patriotic citizens of Los Angeles—you who are enjoying the peace conquered by the old and stricken heroes of the Civil War—send in your offer of automobiles to the committee of several posts and let the arrangements be made for the great gathering of our nation's defenders.

DR. GEORGE W. CAREY, Member Bartlett-Logan Post, G. A. R., Los Angeles, Cal.

PLAN NEW CHURCH.
TULARE, Feb. 5.—Plans were approved today by the members of the First Methodist Church for the new home which the congregation is to erect, and which will cost $20,000. Practically all of the needed sum for the building has been raised and it is believed the association can start out of debt. The structure is to be built of brick, with a facing of pressed terra cotta and the auditorium will seat 700 people.

I sometimes wonder if the Senators and Representatives and Governors and editors who so vigorously oppose any increase in pensions for the veterans of the Civil War have ever read of the faithful service rendered by these men, once the flower of American courage, loyalty, brain and brawn—who while in southern prisons with hunger gnawing their vitals and while insanity was climbing into their brains before they lost their flag when offered their freedom to do so.

New Tuberculosis Remedy Based on Medicine

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alternative we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness, and in normal, curing a large number of Consumptives.

Certainly a person afflicted with a wasting disease should be well fed with wholesome, nourishing food, but frequently raw eggs in quantities cause a digestive breakdown, and then no food nourishes. As for milk, a very good food for many, but a producer of biliousness for some.

Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is going to cure the patient? Eckman's Alternative is the answer. Let those speak who know. Here is a specimen:

35 BAVARIAN ST., ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Gentlemen: On June 2, 1907, I was operated upon for Tubercular arthritis at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. After the operation my physical state was up to top notch. I was then urged by a priest to take Eckman's Alternative which I did. My weight at the time was 75 pounds. I began to improve and steadily gained in health and strength. I now weigh 125 pounds, and am absolutely cured. Believing I owe it to myself and others, I make this statement.

(Signed) ALFRED J. EDNA FIDLER.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung trouble, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics. It is a safe, reliable, and effective remedy. For sale by The Eckman Drug Co.'s Stores and other leading druggists. A. K. Eckman, M. D., of cured cases and write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for additional evidence.

He Is Her Own Cook.
[Philadelphia Record.] Jokers may continue to talk about hens that lay hard-boiled eggs in hot water, but a real barred Plymouth Rock pullet, owned by Benjamin F. Ivins, a retired merchant and poultry fancier, of Burlington, N. J., has gone them one better. Her owner is now able to collect ready-cooked eggs each morning from this chicken, she having selected for a nest the top of an old parlor stove with which he heats the brooder house.

Ivins was surprised to find an egg on top of the stove one morning last week. Later he discovered that the pullet had found a way to enter the room where the young chicks are reared. At laying time she will fly into the brooder room through a broken poultry wire, hop to the top of the stove, do a sort of turkey-trot on the hot plates, drop her egg, and fly down with a self-satisfied cackle.

to his gentleness and godliness. In the picturesque and poetic language of the Oriental race, she told of her early life in Palestine. Born at Baalbek—a little town at the foot of Mt. Lebanon, fifty miles south of Damascus—she received her education in a little girl at Sidon near Tyre, in a Presbyterian school. Referring to the shepherd life of her native country, she reported in Arabic that sweetest song ever written, the Shepherd Psalm. She spoke of the signs of the times indicating the great awakening of Syria and the fulfillment of the prophecy concerning the return of the Jews to Jerusalem.

Following the quick disposal of the court of technical defenses in the government's conspiracy cases against O. A. Treadwell, Anton Johansson, E. A. Clancy and J. E. Munsey, the attorneys for the defendants created much surprise in the United States District Court yesterday morning by insisting upon a speedy trial. The case will be set for trial this morning. The defendants pleaded not guilty to the three separate charges. Under the true bills returned several weeks ago by the Federal grand jury, Treadwell, Johansson, Clancy and Munsey are charged with conspiring to transport high explosives from various interstate points to Los Angeles.

The labor-union leaders were expected to make a desperate technical defense and the action of their lawyers appeared a great surprise to the government prosecutors, who were prepared to uphold the correctness of the indictments.

For some reason or other it is evident that the laborites wish to get through with the pending criminal actions in short order. The date of trial will depend entirely upon the condition of Judge Wellborn's calendar.

The first proceeding when the cases of the United States against Treadwell and others were called was to add the name of Bert Schlesinger of San Francisco, to the list of counsel for the defense. Attorney Davis then submitted the motions and demurrers without argument.

The court intimated that upon their face the true bills appeared to be drawn in due form, but that if there was to be any question he wished time to carefully examine the documents. The defense did not wish, evidently, for even that delay, for Davis added that an immediate ruling of the court would be satisfactory.

Judge Wellborn thereupon denied the motions and demurrers. Special Prosecutor Lawler, who, with United States District Attorney McCormick, is handling the government end of the case, asked that the four defendants' pleas be accepted "not guilty" to each of the three indictments.

Lawler then said the matter of trial should be settled and that as it was a felony case, he believed it was necessary for the defendants to be present in court when such was done. After a whispered conference with his associates, he advised that the setting of the trial be postponed until the following day. There was no objection.

After leaving the courtroom, John Harriman, Davis, George Appell and Schlesinger, all retained by the defense, repaired to Darrow's former office in the building for conference. Clancy, whose heart beat to trouble him shortly after the Federal investigation began, was not accompanied by his nurse yesterday. He appeared to be in good health. It was positively denied by the defense that Clancy made any admissions in the government officials that might be used against the accused. After the conspiracy case is set for trial, the defense attorneys will be free to depart for their respective homes unless some new action is instituted against them.

Automobiles for the Veterans.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(To The Editor of The Times): The national encampment of the G. A. R. will meet in Los Angeles this fall. The several Grand Army posts of the city are now taking preliminary steps to make the occasion an epoch in the history of our great city. Now, in regard to the parade that is expected of the veterans I have a word to say and hope that The Times will give the parade the attention it deserves. The veterans are rightly named. They range from about 65 to 90 years of age. Most of them are sick and feeble. The idea of their having to trudge about through the streets of this "automobile city" is abhorrent. IT MAY CHARGE WITH MURDER.

County Grand Jury to Work Along that Line.

Labor-Union Bosses Object of Deep Inquiry.

If They Conspired They Slew, Is the Law.

That a host of witnesses will be summoned before the Los Angeles county grand jury this morning to present evidence tending to show the labor-union bosses now under Federal indictment were guilty of complicity in the dynamiting of the Times Building and the resultant death of twenty employees, is admitted by the district attorney's office. From this source, it was learned yesterday that O. A. Twitmore, and others of the union leaders will be the subject of the inquiry that may last for several weeks. This investigation will proceed upon the theory that if Twitmore and the rest were guilty of conspiring to transport dynamite to this city to be used in blowing up the Times Building and murdering twenty men, then the labor-union bosses can be indicted upon a charge of murder. In this State conspirators in a plot which results in death for the victims are guilty of murder in the first degree.

Man Gives Hot Chase When He Sees His Trunk Disappearing Through Door—Not Far From a Piece of glass one and three-quarters inches long, an inch and a quarter wide and an eighth of an inch thick, and another of a triangular shape, a little more than an inch long, were taken from the room of Ed Buckley by Dr. Gage at the Receiving Hospital yesterday morning. Buckley, who was found with wounds on the head, was taken to the hospital.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE. Buckley told the police he had been in the room of the late William Buckley since night by letting him sleep in his room. Buckley said he awakened yesterday morning in time to see Chene running away with his trunk which contained about $10. Half attired, Buckley gave chase. Half way down the stairs he saw a flash of light and plunged through it and door. Patrolman Jacques arrested Chene half a block away from the scene of the alleged robbery.

DEATH'S SHAFTS THRUST IN VAIN. WOMAN PITCHED OFF CAR SEAT AS TRUCK CRASHES. Motorist Drives in Front of Speeding Fire Fighters and in Collision Person of Persons Are Shaken Up—Horses Are Injured and Considerable Damage Is Done.

Mrs. G. Haurien of Brooklyn, who is visiting at No. 126 Bunker Hill avenue, had a remarkable escape from death when she was caught under the wreckage of a collision between a street car and hook and ladder truck at Hill and Seventh streets yesterday morning.

The woman was pitched to the floor of the car just as the shaft of the truck pierced its side and tore up the seat from which she had been thrown. She sustained minor bruises.

The three heavy horses pulling the truck were severely cut and bruised. The car was partially wrecked. The truck had to be sent to the repair shop, the eight men on the fire-fighting apparatus were shaken up, and a dozen persons in the rear of the car were thrown into a panic by the crash and fears for their lives, when they jumped.

The collision was caused by the motorist of W. A. Mannell of No. 1441 West Twenty-seventh street, who was driving, to cut across the intersection ahead of the truck. The car was in charge of Conductor E. Freely, No. 633 Crocker street.

A still alarm was turned in for a car at No. 722 South Hill street. Assistant Chief O'Donnell led the procession down Hill street, closely following the hook and ladder truck. A few feet behind it came the truck. Lee Beeson was driving, with Tillerman Frazer at the wheel. On the front end of the truck were Leonard Brown and James McGinnis and Chapman, with Fireman Carpenter and Rhoads on the side of the running board in the rear, and Fireman Bennett on the other.

The first two pieces of apparatus crossed the street. Beeson, who was rear, bells ringing loudly. Not far behind came the truck. Just as it reached the cross street, Motorist Mannell ran his car westward directly in front of the rapidly approaching truck. A cry of horror went up from the pedestrians for it was then that a collision was inevitable. Driver Beeson could not turn to the right or left because other cars blocked his path. There was nothing for him to do, he said, but to guide his horses "into the softest part of the car," and "trust to luck," as he expressed it.

IT GOES FAR. The present investigation was foreseen last summer when "John Doe" indictments were returned at the time that true bills were brought against the McNamara, McManis, and Caplan. Since then, however, a vast amount of information has been gained in the Federal inquiry. Special Prosecutors Lester opened the avenues of inquiry and secured damning admissions. It is believed, from several sources who were given a searching examination in the offices of the United States District Attorney.

The impending investigation is no secret to the men most concerned. From various sources they have kept track of the probable angles the grand jury inquiry would take, and they have retained the services of lawyers who will be busy in their behalf in the State and Federal courts for weeks to come. The indictments to be returned today at Indianapolis may also strike some of the San Francisco walking delegates; one local labor-union boss is also likely to be included, according to information from the East.

Connors to Be Tried Again. The Connors case will be retried according to the present inclination of the Assistant District Attorney. Yesterday the trial of A. H. Maple, an alleged accomplice of Bert Connors, was set for the 11th inst. At that time the cases of Connors and F. Ira Bender, another alleged accomplice, will be arranged. Attorney Davis is expected to make strong efforts to have the Connors case settled. He expects to be busy in other labor-union cases and doesn't want the burden of the Connors case as well. The three defendants are in the County Jail, being unable to secure bail, even after the mistrial of the Connors case, Saturday.

Woman Who Inhaled Eliminating Gas Two Weeks Ago Passes Away. He Died at Once.

Mrs. George W. Thornton, who was overcome with illuminating gas two weeks ago, died yesterday at her home, 1215 Georgia street, where her husband died from asphyxiation at that time, passed away yesterday at the Pacific Hospital, where she was removed immediately after the accident. Both bodies will be prepared by Pierce Brothers for shipment to Romeo, Mich., for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton were visiting here. A gas heater was used to warm their bedroom. Thornton lighted the heater early in the morning and then went back to bed. The heater went out, but neither detected the escaping gas.

Thornton was dead when the room was entered, and the wife was unconscious. She was over 40 years old. Thornton was a merchant in Romeo.

DRIVER IN JAIL AWAITS INQUEST.

BAIL IS REFUSED BECAUSE OF WOMAN'S DEATH.

Police Propose to Prosecute Joy Rider Held Responsible for Accident Alleged Due to Carelessness. Man With Broken Jaw May Have to Testify in Writing.

An inquest over the body of Mrs. Maud Smith, wife of C. W. Smith, a block system instructor for the Southern Railway, who was instantly killed in an automobile accident at the intersection of North Avenue Twenty and San Fernando road early Sunday, is to be held this morning at the Breese morgue.

Harry L. Crocker, president of the Domestic Utilities Company, with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, who was driving the car, is held without bail in the City Jail, pending the outcome. He has employed counsel to represent him at the inquest.

Crocker's attorneys endeavored to secure Crocker's release on bail yesterday, offering Capt. Haupt of the Central Station as surety that he might demand that he refused, declaring Crocker must remain in jail until after the coroner's investigation. Capt. Haupt, however, declined the offer, saying he is convinced that the overturning of the machine was due to carelessness on his part.

"The man did not stop for the turn," said the captain. "He tried to go around it too fast with the result that he killed one woman and injured four others besides himself."

The other members of the party had so far recovered, yesterday, it was announced, that all will probably be able to appear at the inquest today. E. L. Fitzpatrick, a lineman of No. 181 South Bunker Hill avenue, who sustained a broken jaw, will not be able to testify verbally, but it is with great difficulty that he can utter a word.

DEATH GENTLY CALLS HER HOME.

MRS. LYMAN STEWART SUCCEEDS TO LONG ILLNESS.

Beloved of Many for Her Charity and Kindness of Spirit, Wife of Union Oil Company's President Passes Peacefully—Funeral Services Tomorrow.

After a lingering illness of more than a year, Mrs. Sarah Adelaide Stewart, wife of Lyman Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, died yesterday morning at her home, No. 612 Lucas street. Though Mrs. Stewart had long been a sufferer from an affection of the heart, it was only a week ago that her condition became so grave that she was confined to her bed. Her husband, who was with her at the time, said she died peacefully, surrounded by her family.

Mrs. Stewart was a native of El-Hooville, N. Y., though her childhood was spent at Enterprise, Pa. Her father, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Burroughs, removed while she was hardly more than a baby. She was educated at Waterford College, married in 1887, and has since resided in California. She had been a member of Immanuel Presbyterian Church for many years.

Her husband, Mr. Lyman Stewart, was a prominent business man and a member of the Union Oil Company. He was a native of California and had been in the oil business for many years. He was a member of the Union Oil Company and had been in the oil business for many years.

WAITED TOO LONG.

Statute of Limitations Bars Claim of St. Paul Trust Company Against George Monrovia Rancher.

Louis T. Stenagard, alias Alton E. Hill, a rich Monrovia ranchman, was the principal in a suit brought by his wife about a year ago, achieved a substantial victory in the Supreme Court yesterday, in escaping judgment for the payment of $4000, secured by the St. Paul Title and Trust Company.

The St. Paul concern sued upon the judgment recovered in Minnesota in 1911 against the defendant under the name of Stenagard, alleging that he had left the State surreptitiously, and endeavored to conceal his identity and his assets from his creditors. While acknowledging the judgment, Hill pleaded the statute of limitation.

He claimed that he had not fraudulently concealed his identity; that he had continued to reside in Los Angeles, and that he had not changed his name until 1909; that he had not fraudulently concealed his identity; that he had continued to reside in Los Angeles, and that he had not changed his name until 1909.

But Alleged Speeder Has Another Trick In His Sleeve and Appeals Rather Than Pay Fine. Despite the fact that he acted as his own lawyer, that he had two handsome young women as witnesses in his behalf and that he had a jury to listen to the evidence, Ed Carnestean was convicted by a jury before Justice Reeve yesterday of exceeding the speed limit with his automobile and was fined $75.

"I appeal from the decision of the court," he said, "and a higher court shall pass on this." He deposited $100 as surety on appeal. Motorcycle Policemen Cannon and Thompson testified that they had to chase Carnestean three miles to capture him, but he swore that he had not exceeded the speed limit. He made an address to the jury in which he declared that he had never been before a court before and that he was an upright citizen who paid his taxes and was a good man.

Quoting testimony of an interesting character by Elmer R. In discussing the relation of the express company to the railroads, and to the public, at a luncheon at Hamilton's, Jones said: "The life and movement of the nation depends absolutely on the railroads. Therefore we should take proper care of this delicate machinery by giving it proper support, proper work and proper control. METAL EXPERT SEES DEFECTS.

Charges Work in Hall of Records Faulty.

"If Wrong I'll Right It," Says Contractor.

Report of Inspectors Filed With Supervisors.

A long report was filed with the Board of Supervisors yesterday morning by Metal Expert Lane of St. Louis. He finds that the enameled doors, frames, sash and trim installed in the new Hall of Records are in the main faulty and defective.

The expert condemns the work as not up to the specifications, and in several instances not even up to the changed specifications. The report indicates that though the county is paying $102,000, the full sum originally named, for the copper drawn-work, its real cost should be 25 per cent. less.

It may mean that the county will not pay the claim of Carl Leonard, general contractor, for $180,000 until he shall have complied with the exact plans and specifications of the contract as interpreted by the expert.

"I have nothing to say at this time," said Leonard, yesterday afternoon, after he had read Lane's report. "But don't take that to mean that I won't have something to say later on. I am anxious and willing to have the whole matter probed to the very bottom and the facts published. If there is anything faulty in the construction of the Hall of Records, I want to know it and I'll make it right. That's the way I do business and the only way."

In summarizing his voluminous report Lane declared that 10 per cent. of the windows are defective in that they are corroded, that the enamel is filled with dirt, and that the attachments are not concealed, and that most of the enamel was air dried in part, instead of baked.

TR AIR-DRIED. The report says that 32 per cent. of the outside sills of the windows are defective and painted with air-dried enamel. In a few cases, he says, the doors and windows are up to the sample offered.

"Out of 1161 window frames in the building, 1857 already show rust and corrosion although guaranteed against rust," reports Lane. He avers that 476 window frames are already split and punctured, though the building has not been officially accepted.

The expert's report was made for Smith, Emery & Company, special inspecting and testing engineers for the county, who brought Lane here from St. Louis. He began his investigation January 2.

Chairman Butler of the House Committee, Board of Supervisors, filed a report yesterday afternoon condemning the metal finish of the building and declaring that the copper drawn-work was changed illegally and without authority by the Board of Supervisors. The report states that in such case the county may either require a strict compliance with the original specifications or may allow the contractor a reasonable value for the metal trimming installed and thus protect the county against loss on account of the substitution of a different type of metal finish.

Deputy District Attorney Hanna agreed with the members of the House Committee that the contractors had probably saved $20,000 by substituting a baked enamel metal trim for the copper-drawn finish. He declared the cost of the best baked enamel at least 10 per cent. less than copper drawn-work.

VOLUMINOUS REPORT. Lane in his report said in part: "The inspection was made by going carefully over each window frame and sash, interior and exterior, removing all dust and washing the surface where necessary. In some cases, to determine definitely the condition of the surface, a small magnifying glass was used, but this was only referred to occasionally as the defects herein-after pointed out were all easily determined by the naked eye."

"Your inspectors found, first, that all trim and finish is not put up by concealed method of attaching same. The chair rail is fastened in position by round-headed screws through the face of the rail, and in many places in driving the screws home the enamel has been chipped from the rail and the screw heads are all plainly visible. The same thing applies to the moldings above the base. The moldings on the window frames and the moldings on the top of the floor frames are applied in the same way and not according to the specifications."

"Your attention is called to the fact that the interior doors, jambs, casings and moldings are not all finished in best baked enamel, as shown by samples submitted. Over 50 per cent. of the doors have been refinished in enamel, and of course were air-dried. Many of them, especially on the elevator floor, are not yet hard. While it is your inspector's opinion that the originally all of this work when done in the best baked enamel, the fact remains that this 50 per cent. has been air-dried in the refinishing and therefore not up to specifications."

"Your attention is called to the condition of the windows and door frames. There is not one window, door frame, molding, trim in the entire building that is equal to the sample submitted. All of the work being rough and dirty. The term dirty applied in this case to mean that dirt is in all the cracks, crevices, and in the joints, either the enamel was dirty before it was applied, or dust and dirt was permitted to fall on the work before or during painting."

"Your inspectors examined a total of 1161 window frames, and found that 1857 of these frames showed rust and corrosion, or 32.62 per cent. of the exterior window frames showed rust and corrosion, and therefore are not up to specifications, which guarantee against rust. Your inspectors found 18 of the outer sills of these windows had been recoated, or 32.42 per cent. of the total examined. These sills have been recoated over chipped, cracked, peeled and corroded metal, and were coated to hide their defects. As the recoating was done with the frames in position, and were allowed to air-dry, the finish of these frames is not baked enamel."

"Many of the frames, especially the sills, are badly battered, showing that workmen have been very careless in placing them in position. One hundred and seventy frames, or 14.64 per cent. of the total, are split or punctured. Some of these frames show two, three, four and five such splits or punctures, and one in par-particular, has as high as ten. This does not agree with the specifications, under the heading 'workmanlike manner.' Many of the sashes in these frames are in bad condition, the corners being broken and corroded. Some have been retouched and recoated.

"Your attention is called especially to the window frames on the elevator floor, where you will find they are battered and almost out of shape. A great deal of corrosion was found on the interior doors and the enamel would not have disintegrated over the metal in such cases. Proper care was not exercised in cleaning the metal before the enamel was applied, hence the early failure. The expression used in the revised specifications, 'best baked enamel,' has no real meaning, and the judgment of the architect was bad in using such a term. We can only analyze what was meant by comparison."

"The sample doors and window frames now in possession of the Board of Supervisors are very much better than the work in the building, and as the contractor has agreed to finish the metal trim equal to these samples, and as he has failed, inasmuch as the work is rough, dirty, brittle, discolored, off shade and faded, it is not best baked enamel. There are possibly a dozen doors in the building that are as good as the sample, and if we judge the workmanship by their own standard, then it is not up to specifications. If the best baked enamel had been used, the early failure of the exposed work would have been avoided and the enamel would not have disintegrated so rapidly. This disintegration is due to poor enamel put on an uneven surface in an unworkmanlike manner, and the proper care was exercised in baking, some of the work being over-baked, or burned, while some of it was not baked sufficiently hard. Your inspectors, therefore, condemn this work as not being in accordance with the revised specifications dated April 29, 1909."

Lane's report and the House Committee's report were referred to Deputy District Attorney Hanna, who has represented the District Attorney's office in the Hall of Records investigation. The supervisors declined to discuss Lane's report.

GOOD THINGS IN LARGE NUMBERS. EIGHT WIVES, SEVEN PIANOS, TOLL OF LUNATIC.

Prayer of Pranks but Not of Melodies. Elks' Club. His Penchant Paves Way to Hospital for Asylum—Wives He Leaves of Own Accord, Instruments Taken.

Believing that no American man in his right mind could possibly desire eight wives, seven pianos, four bass drums, a collection of rattle and snare drums, rattles, cymbals and other noise producers, the Lunacy Commission committed N. E. Brown to Patton yesterday.

Mrs. Laura Brown swore to a complaint charging her spouse with being a lunatic. She did not appear at the trial. It was suggested that, perhaps, the ordeal of facing seven other Meddames Brown appeared a trifle too much for her.

The evidence showed that Brown had no more music in him than there is in a blue-jay, but nourished in his bosom a passion for melodies. This passion was productive of a penchant for musical instruments.

Brown lacked means to pamper his taste for pianos and music, but that didn't for a moment deter him from getting them. In spite of his alleged unbalanced state of mind, he showed himself to be considerable of a frenzied financier, for he ordered promises to be a representative one and the equipment will be equal to the patronage.

"First," he said, "I appeared before the Secretary of War to protest against the increasing rates of the Panama Railway Company and the Steamship Company on through haul between the Atlantic and the Pacific. The secretary had prepared a rate sheet and made an order that it should become effective February 1. W. R. Wheeler appeared for the northern commercial bodies in California, and I for the southern. After a full hearing, the secretary made an order that the rates shall not go into effect until February 15. In the meantime there will be opportunity to present arguments and data. This hearing is going on now. Mr. Wheeler is there, submitting expert testimony. Mr. Wheeler may send a representative to Panama to make an investigation, and a continuance of the time granted will probably be asked for. If I receive a telegram from Mr. Wheeler to this effect I shall ask the commercial bodies of Southern California to request further time to present evidence.

"The day after this I appeared before the Interstate Foreign Commerce Committee, which has under consideration the draft of a bill providing for tolls and regulations for the operation of the canal. Mr. Wheeler also appeared before the committee.

"I argued that the Panama Canal does not differ from any other river or harbor improvement, except in point of size, and in answer to objections of representatives of the middle States that they would receive no benefit from free toll I called their attention to the project that has been recommended of constructing a canal from the Gulf to the lakes, and asked whether they would expect to pay toll there. They did not. I told them that if free California commodities are sold in their States the consumers will be benefited the full amount. The real beneficiaries are the American consumers. In addition, there is the great incentive to American vessels to handle this freight.

"Congress is considering plans of a merchant marine, and to my mind nothing would be more effective than coastwise vessels.

"The subject that the committee is chiefly interested in, and I agree with them that it is the most important, is the question of whether or not the railroads and steamship lines, or a combination of rates, shall be permitted to use the canal, or if barring them should be made the penalty for entering into such rates.

"I advocate against exclusive steamship business, or steamships that are in agreement to maintain rates, and maintain that a short and effective investigation should be provided upon complaint made, rather than a long, expensive, and to my mind, ineffective hearing before a commission.

"The important question before the American people on the Panama Canal today is to see that we have full, free and unrestricted competition by water from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

President should make an order not passing them through the canal. HARD ON COMPETITION. "The importance of this is that if railroad-owned lines are allowed to use the canal they can make the rate so low that it will drive competition from the field.

"In other words, instead of remaining satisfied with the statement that the ocean is free (which it has been found out is not true, and investigation is being made to see if there is not a combination) the canal be made an effective barrier to combinations, or to any plan or scheme that would strike in any way other than to give the ports of the Pacific Coast the lowest freight rates consistent with full and fair competition by water.

"If this is done figures by experts seem to sustain the proposition that upon any heavy commodities the rate to Pacific Coast points from Atlantic Coast points should be reduced to one-third what is now charged. Such a reduction would mean to the consumers of the Coast, like Los Angeles, much each year. It would mean the selling of our commodities in the East, where freight rates are now prohibitive. The most important question before the American people on the Panama Canal today is to see that we have full, free and unrestricted competition by water from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

The ex-senator said he will probably not return to Washington.

Uprising at Carmargo Has Not Been Quelled, but no Alarm Is Felt.

News of Proposed Mobilization of American Troops Doesn't Scare.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—President Madero tonight regarded the situation in the State of Chihuahua as materially improved. He said that there are no serious conditions there as that Braulio Hernandez, Secretary of State of Chihuahua, who was in rebellion on Sunday and took possession of Santa Rita, has joined forces with Antonio Rojas, the Yuma-Quinta liberated from the penitentiary last week by a mob. Today their men were distributed from Santa Rita to San Andres. Government troops have been sent in pursuit of them.

The uprising at Carmargo has not been quelled. Minister of the Interior, General Victoriano, has placed a restoration order, but failed. The government now thought.
